After the Pearl Harbor attack, Nebraska farmer Ben Kuroki volunteered for the U.S. Army Air Corps. He would become the first Japanese-American war hero, surviving 58 missions as an aerial gunner over Europe, North Africa and Japan. Between tours of duty he found himself at the center of controversy -- a lone spokesman against the racism faced by the thousands of Japanese Americans who were sent to internment camps.

The fifth inning looks at baseball's desperate attempts to survive the Great Depression and Babe Ruth's fading career, while a new generation of stars, including Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, is on the rise. It also presents the parallel world of the Negro Leagues, which thrived in the shadow of the Major Leagues. The inning culminates with the greatest showdown in the history of the Negro Leagues: Satchel Paige, arguably the best pitcher ever, against Josh Gibson, "the black Babe Ruth," in the Negro League World Series.

This week's guest has the distinction of being named Amarillo's woman of the Year for 2010. It's a honor many would say Lilia Escajeda deserves after more than 30 years of civic and community involvement. The list of organizations and boards that she has served are too numerous to mention. But Escajeda will also be the first to say that, at least early on, she was asked to serve because of her ethnicity and not her experience or knowledge. And so this week we're talking to Escajeda Face to Face about her work in Amarillo, our growing Hispanic and Latino population and why she considers herself a God Mother in the Barrio.
